hi - just got a phantom gt5 2006 at the local harley davidson shop for $899. Did I get a deal ? does anybody know what the weight limit is ? I would like to scoot with my wife on the back (i'm 240 and she's 120) thanks - who would have thought a harley shop sells scooters ??? whats the realistic speed ?

My scooter is a clone of the Phantom, and I was just looking at that within the last day or two. Seems like the listed weight limit was somewhere around 340-350 lbs. From reports of others who've ridden with a passenger, I think you can expect between 45-50mph to be about tops riding two up.

if it's a phantom gt5 then i would say you got a deal. i think the weight limit is around 300 lbs, so you'd be pushing it big time.

i also bought mine at a harley dealership :)
