
Stuttering I guess, then a no start

Posted by mcnastyfaced - 2010/01/13 14:29

Since the snowfall we had a few weeks ago in Northern Virginia my Triton R4 has been having starting issues in the cold, and the gas milage has gotten noticeably worse, then it started stuttering when i would open up the trottle. Some days were better than others. Then last night i rode it to my destination, and when i tried to leave it just wouldnt start. Any one have any ideas what may be the issues?

Possibly a bent valve, are you loosing power as well as gas milage

Look for cracks on carb to air cleaner hose.
